

Configure DNS for a Cluster

Kubernetes offers a DNS cluster addon, which most of the supported environments enable by default. In Kubernetes version 1.11 and later, CoreDNS is recommended and is installed by default with kubeadm.

For more information on how to configure CoreDNS for a Kubernetes cluster, see the Customizing DNS Service. An example demonstrating how to use Kubernetes DNS with kube-dns, see the Kubernetes DNS sample plugin.

Feedback

Was this page helpful?

Yes

No

Last modified January 13, 2023 at 11:05 AM PST: Update page weights in /tasks/access-application-cluster,/configure-pod-container,/configmap-secret \(97693ff044\)