Amazon Cloud9 can't get you to your requested environment. Here are some suggestions on how to figure out what's going on:

- Check that you have access to your environment and are signed into Amazon Cloud9 for the environment.
- Check that the server is successfully running on Amazon Cloud9:
  - If the server hit an error, the output window will have a message telling you what it is.
  - If you're in the middle of debugging code, your server might be paused right now.
  - The server might be running on a different port; make sure it runs on port 8080.
